A RAID ON THE REDS.

Capt. Devery Swoops Down on a Secret Meeting.

Clubs Drawn and Used Freely in Stanton Street.

The Mob Dispersed, but No Arrests Made.

The anarchists who tried to hoodwink the police this morning when they met at a meeting at 97 Stanton street, made a sad mistake.

They had given out that the meeting would take place at 2 o'clock, and instead of that, however, they decided to hold it at noon.

Everything was swimmingly along until 1 o'clock when suddenly Police Capt. Devery himself, with two hundred and thirty policemen in full uniform, moved down upon the Reds.

The greatest excitement ensued. Fully 500 persons blocked the street, and the sidewalk as soon as the police appeared.

Some of the anarchists made a futile attempt to stand and fight, but a vigorous use of the clubs soon dispelled them. Finally the mob was driven away and order restored.

The majority of the officers went back to the station-house with the captain, and only a half dozen were left to guard the place.

The anarchists decided to hold the meeting in Stanton street, after they had been refused admission to the hall.

They posted a notice on the hall building for every one to proceed at once to the Stanton street building.

That notice had been seen by one of Capt. Devery's men, and the raid followed.

Before the raid several speeches were made.

Emma Goldman, who had promised to speak, did not present an appearance.

The speeches were mainly to the effect that families were being evicted by the wholesale and that all were starving.

The incendiary speeches made at the hall by the anarchists who took possession of that place early yesterday morning together with the remarks of Emma Goldman at Union Square last night, have induced the police to adopt a different line of policy.

The proprietor of every hall within the limit of Devery's precinct has been notified that the halls are not to be hired out or given for any meeting whatever, save the regular lodge meetings, without the captain's consent.

Further, the proprietor of every hall must notify the captain just as soon as application for the hall has been made.

This course was decided upon last evening after the captain had been told of Emma Goldman's wild utterances and of the threats made to kill police and reporters.

So as not to create any undue excitement, however, he waited until the crowd had left the hall and started for Union Square. Then he sent for Joseph Batt, the proprietor of the hall, to whom he had been told the hall was open.

Mr. Batt, who had been willing to give the "unemployed workmen" anything and everything, put several barrels of free beer on tap and set out a free lunch.

They were, however, at the point of the captain's remarks, and promised to offer no more.

Other hall proprietors were given similar advice.

Blissfully ignorant of all this, the anarchists held their assembly at noon this morning at all of the east-side places.

Morris Rosenthal, "chairman of the Committee of Unemployed Workmen," as he calls himself, was one of the speakers. He called himself a "trouble maker" and "trouble maker" in making arrangements for a meeting place.

They strolled leisurely down to the hall, at 2 o'clock this morning, and were amazed to find the door closed.

A little bit of a door leading to the hall was open, and standing on the threshold was the proprietor himself.

They said they wanted to hold a meeting this morning, but he said they could not, and then he gave the captain's order.

VOORHEES FOR REPEAL

Indiana Senator Speaks on the Silver Question.

Col. Fellows Will Take Part in To-Day's Debate.

Oratory Will End in the House on Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The principal feature in the Senate to-day was a speech by Mr. Voorhees (Dem., Ind.), Chairman of the Finance Committee, in support of the bill reported by him last Friday continuing the purchase of silver bullion.

Mr. Voorhees said that such questions as ratio were matters of detail, but the American people had declared that silver should not be demonetized and that Congress would establish a fair ratio, and no matter what would be dismissed. No effort would be spared to effect an international agreement, but under no circumstances would the laboring, debt-paying, nine-tenths of the American people consent to double the debts of debtors by destroying half of the constitutional money.

As a firm, unflinching believer in bi-metalism, and as an undeviating supporter of the coinage and the use of both gold and silver, as the standard money of the country, without discrimination against either metal, Mr. Voorhees said he voted against the passage of the Sherman act, and for the same reason he would vote for its repeal.

In this, the darkest day ever known for silver, he avowed his unshaken faith that it would remain forever one of the world's great and potential factors of finance, commerce, traffic and industry.

In the House to-day the silver debate was continued by speakers on both sides. Mr. Bricker, of Wisconsin, opened the debate by urging repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

The other speakers of the day will be Mr. McKim, of Alabama, Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, and Mr. Mallory, of Florida, for free coinage.

The other orators for repeal will be Mr. Dilliver, of Iowa; Charles W. Stone, of Pennsylvania; and Col. John R. Fellows, of New York. The latter will make his first important speech in Congress.

The silver debate will be closed in the House on Saturday by Messrs. Bland, Crocker and Wilson. The latter will close the oratory with a thirty-minute speech.

The voting will begin on the Bland amendment on Monday, and the final vote on the question of repeal will begin at 2 o'clock Tuesday.

The first of the new committees of the House to organize is the Committee on Appropriations, which met this morning for the purpose at 10:30 o'clock.

Chairman Saxton has named the clerical force of the committee-room. Chief Clerk Courts, Assistant Clerk Greener and Messenger Ray that they need have no fear of removal, as he intended to recommend their retention to the Committee to-day. This is equivalent to appointment.

Secretary of State Gresham emphatically denied the story telegraphed to the press that he had written to Senators Ransom, of North Carolina, and several other free-silver Senators, promising that if they would vote for unconditional repeal he would pledge himself to subsequent legislation, providing for the coinage of silver.

There is not a word of truth in the story, says Secretary Gresham.

Trouble Between Finnish and Russian Troops.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times says Finnish newspapers report several serious collisions between Finnish and Imperial Russian troops this summer at the camps near Wilna.

The Russian Minister of War has sent a commission of generals to Finland to investigate the trouble.

Ratzburg Cathedral Struck by Lightning.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—The cathedral in Ratzburg, Saxony, was struck by lightning yesterday. The towers and roof were set on fire, and the fire was extinguished in the ruins. The interior of the cathedral was but little damaged.

Alleged Shortage of $22,000.

BENEFICIAL, Aug. 22.—Will R. Perry, clerk of the County Court, has disappeared, and it is believed that there is a shortage of fully $22,000 in his accounts.

MORE LONGSHOREMEN GO OUT

75 New Men Join the Strikers at the Seminole's Pier.

Vessels May Be Detained in Port Another Day or Longer.

The striking longshoremen on the pier of the Mallory, Ward and Clyde lines received accessions to their ranks this morning of about seventy-five longshoremen on the Clyde line, who took the places of the strikers yesterday.

About 100 longshoremen went to work loading the Clyde steamer Seminole at pier 28 East River at 6 o'clock this morning, and worked steadily for nearly three hours.

The steamer was scheduled to sail at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and the men in charge of the dock made an extra effort to get the ship away on time.

Some of the men were coming from the pier of the Mallory, Ward and Clyde lines, and a crowd of strikers stood on South street and watched them.

Without any warning the one hundred men working on the ship picked up their tools and walked down the pier.

About twenty-five of them returned to work, but the remainder joined the strikers across the street, and spent the morning watching the vessel.

At the same time, the action of the men, the strikers would sail at the scheduled time, but towards noon the fact that the steamer was far from being loaded, but the large quantity of freight left on the dock, forced an announcement that the indications were that the steamer would not get away until tomorrow.

As determined as the three companies appear to be to start by the addition of 20 cents to 25 cents per hour for the average longshoreman, the men this morning were equally determined to stand out against what they consider an outrageous demand.

A more orderly body of strikers could not be found, although there is no organization among them, they are a unit in protesting against the reduction.

They insist that reduction in wages is in view of the peculiar and unjust method of employing them, and according to the longshoremen, the dock companies have made each man work as much as two men.

Every day by the loading of ships and every day by the unloading of ships, the men are employed, but they are not paid for the time they are not employed.

As to this, said a strikers, they now want to cut us down to next to nothing.

The average man among us makes about $1.50 a day, and the dock companies are trying to reduce it to $1.00 a day.

On Wednesday and Saturday are generally lost, because no steamer is in.

On the Mallory and Ward lines, the situation was quiet, although a sergeant and a half a dozen police stood on guard.

About sixty men were at work loading the steamer, which is scheduled to sail tomorrow, but the dock companies have a job trying to load the ship.

According to some of the strikers, the steamer brought the men over from the pier of the Mallory, Ward and Clyde lines, and they are now working on the dock.

Those who have been affected by the dock companies are not more than one to four, showing that where one man is really employed, four others will be unemployed.

TAX 1.82 ON THE HUNDRED.

Lowest Rate the City Has Ever Had.

There Will Still Be a Margin to Spare.

The Board of Aldermen met today, and the Finance Committee reported on the tax rate for 1893. The committee recommended a rate of 1.82 on the hundred, the lowest the city has ever had.

The assessed valuation of real and personal property is $1,935,518,228, a net increase of $165,254,254 over last year.

The amount required for the budget for this year is $7,447,418.88. Deducting from this the estimated income of $1,000,000 from general sources, and $2,047,275.41 which the Board of Estimate has added from a special source, the balance to be raised by taxation is $1,177,423.55.

But the Finance Committee has added to this sum $46,283.65 for estimated deficiencies, which makes the whole amount to be raised $1,223,707.20.

In their report the Finance Committee point out that the tax rate of 1.82 is not only the lowest, but that there is a margin to spare.

The committee provides that the amount to be raised by taxes shall not exceed 2 per cent. of the assessed valuation of real and personal property, and 2 per cent. on a valuation of $1,935,518,228 would be $38,690,357.76.

The amount raised under the present rate is only $35,000,000, a great deal less than 2 per cent.

In presenting the report, Chairman Brown, of the Finance Committee, said: "I suppose next Fall Fall and J. Short Fasset will pitch into Tammany Hall and say Tammany is responsible for a bad condition of affairs, for they won't say this is the lowest tax rate the city has ever had."

Albion P. Brown again called up his favorite order to change Bayard street to Harry Howard street, and presented a resolution from the Veterans Union endorsing the proposed change.

The resolution was spread on the minutes and that ended the meeting.

STOLE A LOAF OF BREAD.

Nazal Said He Had Had Nothing to Eat for Four Days.

Justice Grady, in the Yorkville Police Court, heard a prisoner this morning who story not only moved the spectators to pity but caused stern justice to relent and give a resolution from the Veterans Union endorsing the proposed change.

The prisoner was Emil Nazal, a German, twenty-four years old, and the charge was the stealing of a loaf of bread.

The complainant was Jeremiah Murphy, a watchman, of 24 West Sixty-seventh street.

He told the justice that at a recent time he had seen Nazal steal a loaf of bread from the window of the house at West Twenty-fourth street and snatch a loaf of bread from the window.

Nazal had already eaten half the loaf, and was trembling under the other half.

In court Nazal admitted taking the bread. While he was in the judge's story, tears streamed down his face.

He said he was a laborer, homeless, and had had nothing to eat for four days.

The sign of the loaf of bread was found in his hand, and being taken to the court, it was committed to the jail.

His apparently honest face and frank, pitiful expression, which was the result of sympathy for taking up a collection of $5 and presenting it to Nazal.

Justice Grady gave the prisoner his freedom. Nazal thanked his benefactors heartily and left the court.
